POSITIONING STATEMENT

The rational, plainspoken, detailed articulation of what HWS is today.

- Future-focused liberal arts and sciences
- Led by accessible, research-active scholar/teachers/mentors
- Dedicated to students' intellectual, professional and ethical development
- With groundbreaking leadership in experiential education
- Evidenced by a signature constellation of proximate campus centers
- In a revitalized city on the shore of a resource-rich lake
- In a collaborative community that values the dignity and potential of each individual

VALUE PROPOSITION

What makes us compelling and attractive to the marketplace, or "Why choose HWS?"

HWS places its students' futures at the forefront—through mentorship that maximizes potential, experiences that spur discovery, inquiry that tackles emerging challenges, community that deepens belonging, and professional preparation that accelerates careers.

VISION

What HWS seeks to become.

An institution known for consistent success in preparing students for lives of consequence—while advancing scholarship and inquiry that examines and previews the world they will go on to lead.

NARRATIVE: THE COLLEGES' STORY

These five “tentpoles” provide helpful, high-level structure for telling the Colleges' story.

You'll be on an adventure, and your experiences will be entirely your own—full of learning, discovery, surprises, accomplishment and joy.

You'll find places to belong within the HWS family.

This community welcomes open-minded people from many and varied backgrounds and perspectives.

You'll make a plan, mentored by caring, expert guides and grounded in experiences that will let you test your interests and pave the way to a life of purpose.

You'll gain significant insights into the challenges of the emerging future world.

You will be valued as an ethical person who approaches complex problems with empathy and discernment—and in partnership with others.

TALKING POINTS

These are the pieces of our story that we want others to remember about the Colleges. Think of them as guideposts; they needn't (and shouldn't) be memorized or recited verbatim.

1. Mentorship that maximizes potential

You get a lot more out of college when there's someone to show you the ropes.

Your professors will:

- Help you choose classes and brainstorm majors
- Involve you in research and connect you with experiences that add context to your studies
- Encourage you to explore and make connections that might not have occurred to you otherwise

Along with administrators, fellow students and HWS alums, they take a personal interest in helping you create a college experience that relates your interests and talents to a successful and meaningful future.

It's why no two paths through HWS are the same.

IN BRIEF

The entire HWS community works together to help you find your path, connect with opportunity and launch a successful career.

2. Experience that spurs discovery

Knowledge gains meaning when you put it to use.

HWS offers a constellation of closely situated and deeply connected centers of discovery, action and thought—all of which provide opportunities to deepen your studies through hands-on experience.

Through them, for example, you can:

- Conduct ecological research on a college-owned research vessel
- Create a marketing campaign for a local nonprofit
- Study and intern at locations across the globe
- Advance social justice
- Learn from established authors
- Get behind-the-scenes glimpses of your future profession

The HWS centers create opportunities to connect disciplines, sharpen skills, distinguish your resume, build global citizenship and grow as a person—through meaningful experience.

IN BRIEF

HWS is a top college with university-level opportunities for research, community engagement, global exploration and career preparation.

3. Inquiry that tackles emerging challenges

To make an impact in the world, you have to understand how it works.

In addition to being stellar teachers and mentors, HWS professors are forward-thinking scholars who bring a future-focused mindset to their teaching and research. Whatever your major or career destination, you'll consider that world through the lens of such pressing global challenges as climate change, racial inequality and geopolitical economy. You'll discover how everything connects, how the knowledge and skills of one discipline apply to another and how creative thinking and a collaborative mindset are the essential ingredients of both societal progress and personal success.

IN BRIEF

Here you'll get to explore the world's most pressing issues while building the skills and insights you need to play a role in making its better future.

4. Community that deepens belonging

College is really fun, and it's a time of tremendous personal growth.

Here you'll do things you love and try new things entirely.

You'll find people with similar interests and background and you'll get to know people with entirely different cultures and life experiences. You'll find yourself at home in new communities as you discover new ways of looking at the world. You'll feel the spirit of our championship athletic teams and be inspired by our incredible arts program. You'll live on the banks of a gorgeous lake. You'll make friends for life within a supportive community that values and celebrates that uniqueness of each individual.

IN BRIEF

You'll find many opportunities to explore, contribute and belong in this welcoming, diverse and supportive community.

5. Professional preparation that accelerates careers

Everything we do here gets you ready for what comes next.

- Our comprehensive career development plan, Pathways, takes a step-by-step approach to helping you prepare to launch your post-college life.
- Guaranteed internship funding creates opportunities to explore interests and try on careers.
- Alums help you learn about careers and make connections.
- Faculty mentorship helps you discover a path that relates to your interests and talents—and that points to a meaningful, successful future.

IN BRIEF

You'll be guided by experts and supported by our entire community as you discover careers, explore opportunities and prepare for future successes.

COLORS

Purple, green and orange are our primary, identifying colors.

We have developed a set of complimentary tones/values of the three that allow us to expand the palette.

As much as possible, a color and its respective variations should only be used together. When more than one color set is used, a clear, visual distinction must be made between them.

TYPOGRAPHY

Cera Pro and Cera Stencil Pro are our primary typefaces.

Cera Pro provides a number of different cuts and weights, allowing for a range of typographic styles and an expansive hierarchy.

Cera Stencil Pro is intended for use as a display face (headlines), and for titles and selected graphic “call-outs.” It should not be used for body copy.

When Cera Pro or Cera Stencil are not available, Helvetica may be substituted.

GRAPHICAL ELEMENTS: SHIELD PATTERN

The shield pattern is available in a range of colors in the palette. To add a layer of visual interest, it can be used as texture in certain applications. Care should be given to readability when the pattern appears with small type.

GRAPHICAL ELEMENTS: THE JOURNEY

Combining these graphical elements with our colors and type helps create a distinctive HWS look and feel.

Conceived as an element to help convey student journey mapping, solid lines are used as strokes for images, text boxes, color boxes and paths connecting different elements.

Square/rectangular boxes may be used to frame text or images. Text contained in these shapes should be left justified and have a minimum padding of 0.2 in.

On a spread of multiple images and text boxes, elements should loosely follow a grid and overlap to depict a collage effect. Additionally, a white, 2pt path can be used to connect the different elements.

A multicolor, horizontal color strip can be used as textural, photo containers (instructions on page 21) or as solid boxes to support a narrative. A vertical color strip using a singular color set can be used as page decoration (example on page 25).

HEADLINE THEORY

Copy Style

Our headlines are intended to serve as a serialized conversation between the Colleges and our readers—in this case prospective students and families. The tone is knowing but informal and approachable. A provocative wisdom should invite readers into secondary layers of content.

Creating the Transparent Box

1. Set the copy (left justified and in Cera Pro Black)
2. Create a box with a 2pt, white stroke and an HWS fill color
3. Set the blending mode of the fill to "Multiply" and adjust the opacity if needed

Creating the Solid Box

Create a box with a 2pt, white stroke and a fill color from the same HWS color set.

Creating the Connector Lines

Draw a 2pt, white path between the two boxes using horizontal and vertical lines

MAIN BOX CONSTRUCTION

IF YOU'LL INDULGE

LIFE IS A JOURNEY AND COLLEGE IS THE PART WHERE THINGS GET INTERESTING.

IMAGE THEORY

Photos showcasing the beauty of our campus are an invaluable asset to this toolkit. Breathtaking aerial shots of the quad, lake and surrounding area should evoke a feeling of opportunity and discovery. These are balanced with shots of engaged students in educational and hands-on activities that showcase the HWS community and experience. Eye contact among subjects—and occasionally with the reader—helps underscore the personal relationships that are a hallmark of an HWS education.

cont.

Preparing the Images

1. Open the photo in Photoshop
2. Add a "Black & White" adjustment layer
3. Adjust the sliders if needed to improve contrast
4. Save as a new image

Creating the Boxes

1. Set up the color boxes for horizontal images
2. Use the colors from lightest to darkest
3. Build the lines with a 2pt, white stroke

Applying the Images

- For images on top of lighter colors, set the blending mode to "Multiply"
- For images on top of darker colors, set the blending mode to "Overlay" or "Soft Light"
- Reduce the image opacity to around 70%

HORIZONTAL BOX CONSTRUCTION

cont.

Preparing the Images

1. Open the photo in Photoshop
2. Change the color mode to "Grayscale"
3. Save as a new image

Creating the Color Overlay

1. Import the grayscale image into InDesign and position as desired
2. Using the direct selection tool, select the image
3. Apply an HWS fill color

cont.

Creating the Spotlight

1. Copy the frame and paste into place, duplicating the image and its position
2. Replace the image with its original, color version
3. Without moving the frame, resize the container as desired
4. Can be shown with or without a 2pt, white stroke
