Because of you, these aspiring physicians received more than their first white coats; they saw the powerful generosity of our supportive academic medical community. Your white coat sponsorship provided special inspiration as they reflected upon the privilege and responsibility that these coats represent. We are grateful for your support as our students embark on this new journey.

Your support not only funded the white coats themselves; it provided scholarship funding to help reduce student debt. Thank you for your meaningful gift to the USF Health Morsani College of Medicine.
